

LEXTANT IS LOOKING FOR CONTRACTORS

ARE YOU SERIOUSLY CURIOUS? Passionate about people and design? Let's talk.

LEXTANT TRANSFORMS EXPERIENCE WHEREVER THINGS ARE MADE. Design can change lives. This is our mission and our passion. From retail environments and consumer products to transportation systems and medical devices, we use art and science to understand people and shape innovation. Global brands like P&G, Lowe's, Ford Motor Company, and GE Healthcare rely on Lextant's leading design research and user-experience expertise for great product, service and user-experience design.

Lextant's insight-driven design research methods help clients generate successful new products and services. Our innovative evaluation techniques ensure they are useful, usable and desirable. A strong background in experimental psychology and human factors provide us with a foundation for helping our clients understand the user experience and providing the most useful design recommendations.

JOIN OUR TEAM

We are hiring contractors with varied levels of experience ranging from entry-level to 10 years. We prefer candidates to have agency or corporate experience in one of the following areas: design research, human-centered design and user experience.

EDUCATION BACKGROUNDS:

- Industrial Design, Cognitive Psychology, Experimental Psychology, Applied Psychology, Behavioral Psychology, Anthropology, Visual Communication Design, Industrial Engineering, Human Factors and Human Computer Interaction

RESPONSIBILITIES BASED ON EXPERIENCE LEVEL AND MAY INCLUDE ONE OR MORE OF THE FOLLOWING:

- Supporting and/or leading research projects
- Assisting with creating research methodologies
- Analyzing and synthesizing qualitative data
- Note taking and moderating for in-depth one-on-one interviews and focus groups
- Ability to provide strategic design recommendations as a result of user research and human factors expertise
- Communicating and presenting to clients and company stakeholders

Employment is project based and may require some travel.

INTERESTED? Let's get the conversation started! Please send your resume and portfolio to jobs@lextant.com.